Location / Dates:

The event took place in Pollina (Italy), from 4/12/2014 to 6/12/2014

Short description:

The first day of meeting (December 4th 2014) started with the welcome of the Mayor of Pollina, Mrs Magda Culotta, to the public audience and to the European delegations from partner organizations Municipality of Tetovo (Macedonia), Municipality of Ciudad Real (Spain), Municipality of Labin (Croatia) and the Association South Western Municipalities (Bulgaria).

They presented their Municipalities with a particular focus about gender policies realized.

Secondly, partners had the occasion to discuss technical issues concerning the project implementation; in particular, the organization of activities, the calendar of project events, the budget management and communication/ dissemination strategies.

Moreover, a specific moment was reserved to the signature of the partnership agreement by all Mayors and Vice Mayors of Municipalities involved.

A guided tour of the town of Pollina followed this meeting, in order to let participants discover historical, cultural and social features of Pollina's territory. In particular, the programme organized a visit to the Museum of Manna that represents an excellence – in fact Manna is produced only in this territory.

In the afternoon, the activities continued at the Auditorium I.C. Pollina in San Mauro Castelverde (Finale) for a social meeting with local associations (Apollonia cultural music association - Pollina New Age Association - I Saracini Folk Association- Sicilia Bella Association) and citizens, precious occasion to get in touch with musical and culinary traditions as well as folklore.

The folk group "I Saracini", composed by girls and boys of different classes of the Comprehensive School "A. Gagini" in Pollina, welcomed the participants with a dance and music performance.

On the second day of the event (December 5th) a round table was organized with the title "The women protagonists in local development processes in Sicily and in Europe - examples of good practices by the municipalities guided by Women Mayors".

During the first part of the round table, three Woman Mayors coming from Sicilian municipalities, namely Filippa Maria Galifi (Municipality of Vita), Anna Sidoti (Municipality of Montagnareale) and Vincenza Maccora (Municipality of Sinagra) presented their experience and good practices to participants. Following their interviews, each representative of European municipalities presented its good practices in different fields (Environment, Work, Welfare, Education, Sustainability and Tourism, Mobility etc.).

After these presentations, respecting one of the milestones of the POWER project, the Mayor Magda Culotta presented her personal and professional experience as well as Pollina's good practices. The biography is a precious tool to encourage and foster participation of women in political and social life, with the transfer of good practices and experiment methodologies on the target groups involved.

This meeting hosted also a photo exhibition of the Slovak photographer Nina Kalinova "The faces of women".

Mrs Kalinova was born in Bojnice in Slovak Republic, but she lives and works in Finale di Pollina for 15 years. The ethical revolution and the fight for civil rights are among the foundations of his photographic art.

The second part of the round table has been dedicated to the conference "The responsibility of being a woman mother and leader", with the participation of a group of local women with different professions that shared their personal and professional experience. Citizens and participants heard five different stories, in particular: Antonella Cancila - Headmaster of the Comprehensive Institute, Arianna Attinasi - Editor of the Publishing House named Arianna, Marinella Fiume - Teacher, Writer and First Woman Mayor in Sicily, Giuliana Maria - Teacher, Rossella Cuggino - Anaesthetist and First Aid Doctor.

This second day ended with a social dinner introduced by a musical concert of the municipal band "A.C. M. Apollonia" and followed by a theatrical performance of the actress Patrizia D'Antona, who played a humorous show about being women at all stages of life, particularly menopause.

The third and last day (December 6th) the programme proposed a guided tour in Palermo focused on the discovery of the Palermo of women, with cultural walks through the squares and streets of the historical centre where women, in particular heroines, artists, rebels and embroiderers have left their mark and of which we have lost the memory.

Short description:

The sixth and final event of the POWER project, started on Thursday 29th September 2016, with a guided visit to the touristic path “Fiumara d’arte” located in Castel di Tusa, near Pollina. Fiumara d’arte is a park of sculptures created by the artist Antonio Presti who blends the contemporary with the rugged beauty of the place.

The official start of the meeting took-off in the afternoon, at the Assembly room of the Municipality of Pollina at the presence of the POWER partners, Municipality of Labin (Croatia), Municipality of Ciudad Real (Spain), Municipality of Tetovo (Macedonia) and ASWM – Association of South Western Municipalities (Bulgaria) and citizens. The Mayor Magda Culotta welcomed the audience and introduced the overall reflection on the 2-year project experience: each partner shared points of view on the activities realised and results achieved.

The meeting continued with a first session dedicated to the technical aspects about the end of the project: final activities, reporting and future cooperation. This was followed by a second one focused on the presentation of the two main POWER outputs: the POWER DVD and the POWER BOOK. The POWER DVD collects biographies, experiences and best practices of Woman Mayors and other women involved in the project’s actions as well as all materials shared during the project activities and events. The POWER book collects biographies, experiences and best practices of Woman Mayors involved in the project’s actions as well as leader women such as members of Parliament, local business women, members of Associations, NGOs, Institutions and Citizens.

The first day ended with the presentation of WOMEN - Woman Mayors European Network. The WOMAN Mayors European Network (WOMEN) is a European network composed by Woman Mayors and other women in decision-making positions in political, administrative, social and economic field, who aim to improve the participation of women in political and social life - through their experiences and best practices – and, as a consequence, to promote democratic life for European citizens.

All POWER Woman Mayors gave birth to the WOMEN network by signing the Covenant of principles and actions, with which they commit themselves to the promotion of the initiatives of the network and widen its members among cities and organisations with which they cooperate locally, regionally, nationally and internationally.

The second day of event (September 30th), continued at the Town Hall of Pollina with a public conference entitled "Women success stories". The Women that have participated to the Conference were: Mrs Francesca di Gaudio / University Assistant Professor and Chemical-health Manager, Mrs Rosalia Stadarelli / Mayor of Misilmeri, Mrs Tiziana Cascio / Businesswoman (Enterprise for the processing and preserving of bluefish), Mrs Marina Scialabba / Mechanical Engineer, Mrs Maria Giuliana / German language teacher and Touristic promoter.

The morning ended with a visit to the historical centre of Pollina and to the Tower of Stars, Maurolico Museum, realised on 2016 by the local administration to enhance the architectural and historical complex of Teatro Pietra Rosa.

In the afternoon the programme included two visits to two enterprises led by women in Castelbuono. The first enterprise was Castelbontà - a slow mobility and touristic company managed by a group of young women which offered a guided tour of the Castelbuono historical centre by electrical cars. The second company visited was the fashion atelier of Giusi Cusimano, fashion designer of Castelbuono, who founded her personal label and who creates her fashion collection taking inspiration from the Italian Renaissance art and architecture.

The third and last day partners (October 1st) participated to a Steering Committee to organize the final steps of the project before the official closure of the activities.
